

AMENDMENTS TO THE ABSTRACT

Please substitute the following paragraph for the abstract now appearing in the currently filed specification:

-- According to some embodiments, a portable object includes a first side and a second side. The first side of the portable object is provided with a first electronic information support and with a second electronic information support. According to other embodiments, a method of manufacturing a portable object is provided. In a first cavity creation step, a first cavity is created in the first side of the portable object. In a second cavity creation step, a second cavity is created in the first side of the portable object. --